International Conference 2026 on Role of AI in Green Technology, Social Economy and Education for Sustainable Development

22nd & 23rd May 2026

About the Conference

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is rapidly reshaping global industries, economies, and societies. Its integration with green technologies, social systems and education offers transformative opportunities for sustainable development.

This International Conference aims to bring together academicians, researchers, policymakers, industry leaders and students to deliberate on the evolving role of AI in building a sustainable future.

The conference will explore AI-driven innovations in climate change mitigation, renewable energy, sustainable agriculture, smart cities, financial inclusion, inclusive education and ethical AI governance. It will serve as a multidisciplinary platform for sharing research, case studies, and policy insights.

Selected papers will be published in conference proceedings (with ISBN) and may be considered for reputed indexed journals.

Conference Objectives

- To critically examine the role of Artificial Intelligence in environmental sustainability and green innovation.
- To explore AI-driven solutions that promote inclusive social and economic development.
- To analyze the integration of AI in education systems for sustainable and equitable learning.
- To encourage interdisciplinary research and strengthen industry–academia partnerships.
